

CRE8TIVE VIBES

Cre8tive Planning for Aspiring Entrepreneurs

At Cre8tive Vibes, we understand that the beginning phase of entrepreneurship can be both thrilling and daunting.

It's a journey filled with boundless potential, but it also comes with its fair share of uncertainties. That's why we believe that before having an organized vision, what matters most is having the unwavering mindset to commit to developing your dream. With this priority in mind, we are here to be your partners on this exciting path to success.

The background image shows a close-up of a person's hands working on a desk. One hand holds a pair of red-handled scissors, cutting a piece of dark paper. The other hand holds the paper steady. The desk is cluttered with various items: a clear plastic cup, a stack of papers, a green box, a black pen, a pink highlighter, and other office supplies. The overall scene suggests a creative or administrative workspace.

Our Mission

Our mission is simple yet powerful - to foster and nurture the aspirations of aspiring entrepreneurs like you. We are dedicated to providing unwavering support to new creators, right from the visionary stage, all the way to product launch and beyond. Cre8tive Vibes is not just a platform; it's a community that celebrates innovation, creativity, and the entrepreneurial spirit.

5th ANNUAL CLCPM
Circle of Life Celebration-Pride Memorial

DATE AND TIME

Doors Open at 6 pm
Event Begins at 6:30 Sharp
Post Reception & Party at 8:30 p.m.
LOCATION
National Black Theatre Inc. NYC

An address from the Executive Producer:
Thanks to your participation and support, we are now embarking upon the Fifth Annual Circle of Life Celebration-Pride Memorial. This year we are hosting the celebration at the National Black Theater, which resides in the heart of Harlem on the corner of 125th Street and Fifth Avenue.

The Circle of Life Celebration-Pride Memorial is a gathering you wouldn't want to miss. Our team is planning to have live drummers, dancers, singers, music and people on stilts and more – all to help us in celebration and reverence of our lives and the people who came before us.

Our 2018 focus is on the beauty of community and our youth.

All too frequently people within our community, and particularly our youth, are still denied celebration, honor, and inclusion, within many spaces due to marginalizing ideas and conversations around race, class, gender, and sexual orientation.

Each year, we as a community work hard to address these horrors.

When Dr. Wilhelmina Perry, Imani Rashid and I came together in 2014 with members of our community to start the CLCPM, we did not know where it would take us. We just knew that a mandate was before us.

We had to do something that would encapsulate the wholeness of our lives, pay homage to the people who loved us along the way, and recognize our deceased the way we knew them, and we did just that. After the first year, we felt it befitting to incorporate awards to honor others in our midst doing similar work. In doing so, we have grown tremendously in size and support.

I want to thank my CLCPM colleagues and mentors, Dr. Perry and Imani Rashid, for continuing to push the vision and for trusting my leadership as the executive producer. I want to thank Rev. Dr. Derrick McQueen, who is the CLCPM pastoral advisor, for leading us spiritually and orchestrating the elder commissioning, which is now a major part of the celebration. Many thanks to our Event Manager Alyce Emory, who for the past three years has played a pivotal part in our development and outreach, and to the other members of our team, Bridgette Rooks and Eric Lockley, who both play critical roles in our event success.

Many thanks and appreciation to our supporters and community partners over the years, who help to make our work and mission possible – Harlem Pride, SAGE, Griot Circle, Destination Tomorrow, New York Black Pride, St. Mary's, Beyond Bold and Brave/Black Lesbian Conference, Global Network of Black Pride, UGBT Faith Leaders of African Descent, Union Theological Seminary of New York, Columbia University, UGBT Kwanzaa Committee of NYC, Bronx Academy of Arts and Dance, New Heritage Theater Group, Harlem YES, and the many others – we thank you.

Let's continue the work and grow the futures we collectively desire to see.

Best,
Christopher Jones
